OREGON.

O, for a pen of streaming fire,
To warm the heart of son and sire,
Through freedom's vast domain;
To tell my country's wrongs to those
Who now indifferently repose,
And think resistance vain.

Our God and WASHINGTON shall be
The deathless motto of the free,
Till time shall be no more.
We'll not give up an inch of soil,
For which our Father's blood and toil
Did most profusely flow.

Oregon is ours, we proclaim—
Fifty-four, forty, we will name,
And nothing less we'll take,
Let the old British Lion roar,
And threaten us with floods of gore—
No freeman's heart will quake.

Again our swords should cease to sleep,
And from their scabbards boldly leap,
To make the Lion quail.
Our institutions feign he'd crush,
And bid the goddess Freedom hush
Her song on hill and dale.

Our flag shall stream from shore to shore,
Long as the eagle's wing can soar
Above the mountain's height.
Columbia's sons will round it crowd,
Nor let oppression's lowering cloud
Obscure one ray of light.

AGRICULTURIST.

AMUSING.—A new work has just been published in England, entitled "Rambles in the United States and Canada, during the year 1845, with a short account of Oregon," which is one of the richest productions we have yet had. The low bred vulgarity of the writer, which this work exhibits, disgustingly apparent as it is throughout its pages, may nevertheless, be overlooked for the sake of the amusement which the book will not fail to afford. Americans can afford to treat this production as a joke of the most amusing kind. A few specimens may excite a desire for more. Of the American people, he says:—

"The men are sallow, and the women tallow; the women are wanting in all that makes feminine nature beautiful, and their efforts to supply such deficiency by art, are totally wanting in the great artistic qualification, (celare artem) in which the French excel. The men are merely long, lanky Yankees, lathy and uncouth, with narrow napes to their necks like women. They never have any boyhood and never live to grow old. They are sour and gloomy, not from habit, they have no faith in the power of street music to lull the senses and open the pocket, their souls being wrapped up in the pursuit of "another dollar;" they have neither imagination, fancy nor taste.

"They are truly a vulgar, ignorant, bragging, spitting, melancholy, sickly people. Passing their lives in a state of mental excitement, some kill themselves with drink, and some with tobacco; some are hurried to the ever yawning gates of their cemeteries by excesses in religion or excesses in politics; excesses in commerce or excesses in speculation; or tribulations of mind induced by a complication of these causes. But calamity is not of long life in America, for the men are soon dead and soon forgotten. Duels and assassinations also help to thin their ranks, for, strange as it may appear, it can be proved that famous as Italy, Sicily, and Spain are for the stiletto, there are many more assassinations and stabblings in the slave States of America, than in all these countries put together. This is a melancholy truth; but as the minds of the masters in the Southern States insensibly become degraded by the mere contact, not to say association, with things so degenerated as their slaves, the moral sense becomes blunted, they care little for assassination or murder, and nothing for stabbing or maiming."

"Americans are generally vulgar; but why should they be hypocrites in the Northern States, rogues in the middle States, and ruffians in the Southern States?"

Governor Marcy, Secretary of War, says this writer, with a horror which is exceedingly ludicrous, "sports a gingham umbrella" Edward Everett, he calls a "Unitarian minister." President Polk is a "village lawyer," but to cap the climax, President Tyler, or "His Accidency," was seen "combing his hair with a filthy comb, tied up by a piece of string in a steamboat, and washing himself with a jack towel used in common with fifty other dirty passengers."

The King and Queen of Prussia have presented to the new Evangelical Lutheran congregation of St. Paul's at Washington, D. C., a handsome service of communion plate, with their names inscribed on it.

James, the Novelist, has undertaken for a considerable sum of money, to write three novels—one fashionable, one historical, and one sentimental; to finish the life, in two volumes, of any celebrated character; to write a pamphlet against the Corn Laws; and to commence four different tales in four different Magazines; all in the space of a calendar month. It is supposed that he will perform the task with ease, and have two or three days to spare.

BURNS OR SCALDS.—Let the burnt part be bathed in a mixture of equal parts of turpentine and olive, or linseed oil, with a feather, till the pain abates: then dress it with common cerate, and defend it from the air.

By a proper application of these simple rules life might often be saved, whilst it is well known to medical gentlemen that what is often kindly though injudiciously done, hastens death.

HYDROPHOBIA.—A copious draught of vinegar, at morning, noon, and night, is said to be a cure for hydrophobia.

TO MAKE BLACKING.—Put one gallon of vinegar into a stone jug; add one pound of ivory black, well pulverized; half a pound of loaf sugar; half an ounce of oil of vitriol, and one ounce of sweet oil: incorporate the whole by stirring. This is a blacking of very great repute.

The Sunday Mercury says: We like to see a young lady walk as though a flea was biting her on each hip, it is so fascinating. She is just the match for the dandy, who steps like an open winged turkey, travelling over a bed of hot ashes."

Cato, the Censor, only repented of three things during his life—to have gone by sea when he could have gone by land; to have passed a day inactive, and to have told a secret to his wife.

"Is that the tune the old cow died of?" said an Englishman, nettled at the industry with which a New Englander whistled Yankee Doodle.

"No, beef," replied Johnathan, "that are's the tune the old bull died of."

"Here, you big trotter," said a half dandy soaplock to an Irish laborer, "come, tell me the biggest lie you ever told in your life, and I'll treat you to a whiskey punch." "An be me sowl, yer honor's a gentleman," retorted Pat.

It was the saying of an eminent divine, that he had found more good in "bad" people, and more bad in "good" people than ever he expected.

Envy is always fixed on something superior, and like a sore eye, is offended with every thing bright.

THE USE OF A SCRAP BOOK.—A friend of ours a few days since came near being strangled by a fish-bone sticking in his throat. He remembered having seen a specific in the newspapers for this evil. Consulting his scrap book, he found the following, and by improving the hint was soon relieved from his difficulty:

"The white of an egg is said to be a specific for fish-bone sticking in the throat. It is to be swallowed raw, and will carry down a bone easily and certainly. There is another fact touching eggs, which it would be well to remember. When, as sometimes by accident occurs, corrosive sublimate is swallowed, the white of one or two eggs, taken immediately, will neutralize the poison and change the effect to that of a dose of calomel." W A V E R L Y, Will stand this Spring Season at my stable, in Anderson Village, and will be let to mares at Ten Dollars the season, and Fifteen Dollars insurance. Parting with a mare, before or after it is ascertained whether she is in foal, forfeits the insurance. Fifty Cents to the Groom for each mare. As to Pedigree, it is unnecessary to say more, than that he was sired by old Bertrand, the greatest of the great; his dam by Whip, the best son of imported Whip. Mares sent from a distance, will be fed at 3 1/2 cents a day, and furnished with good pasturage gratis. His colts are large, and as to form, hard to beat; in fact, I do not believe better can be produced. Any person who can, or will show, at Anderson Village, on the first Monday in September, 1847, the best colt by Waverly, (from a mare put this spring,) shall receive from me a silver cup, valued at Ten Dollars, being the cup taken at Newberry, by Waverly, from the State Agricultural Society, as being the best Stall on exhibited. The Pendleton Messenger, Greenville Mountaineer, Abbeville Banner and Laurensville Herald, will each give the above four insertions, and forward their accounts to me, and they shall be promptly paid. PROSPECTUS Of the Fourth Volume of the Southern Cultivator, A MONTHLY JOURNAL, Devoted to the Improvement of Southern Agriculture. Edited by JAMES CAMAK, of Athens, Ga. In submitting to the Southern Public the Prospectus for the Fourth Volume of the Southern Cultivator, which may now be regarded as permanently established, the Publishers deem it unnecessary to advert to the high character the Work has attained under the editorial control of Mr. CAMAK, and therefore make a direct appeal to the Planters and Friends of Agriculture throughout the Southern States, to aid them in sustaining a publication devoted exclusively to the cause of Agriculture. The advantages and benefits resulting from Agricultural Periodicals, have been felt and acknowledged by the intelligent and reflecting tillers of the soil in all civilized nations; to be most useful, therefore, they should be extensively circulated among all classes of Agriculturists; if possible, they should be in the hands of every man who tills an acre of land, and to this end we invoke the aid of every one who feels an interest in the improvement of the Agriculture of the South. It is published monthly, in Quarto form; each number contains 16 pages of matter, 9 by 12 inches square. TERMS. One copy, one year, $1.00 Six copies, " 5.00 Twenty-five copies, one year, 20.00 One hundred " " 75.00 The cash system will be rigidly enforced. The cash must always accompany the order. J. W. & W.
